

The Global Alliance for Care invites national and subnational governments, the private sector, academia, civil society organizations, international organizations, caregivers' organizations, union associations, and multilateral agencies to be part of this global community.

For more information please contact:
info@globalallianceforcare.org

www.globalallianceforcare.org

Follow us:

© Illustrations: Gilda Martini

Care work,
whether paid
or unpaid, falls
mostly on women.
It is urgent
to end this gender inequality

The Global Alliance for Care invites national and subnational governments, the private sector, academia, civil society organizations, international organizations, caregivers' organizations, union associations, and multilateral agencies to be part of this global community.

For more information please contact:
info@globalallianceforcare.org

www.globalallianceforcare.org

Follow us:

© Illustrations: Gilda Martini

Care work should be redistributed among all persons, and all sectors of society

The Global Alliance for Care invites national and subnational governments, the private sector, academia, civil society organizations, international organizations, caregivers' organizations, union associations, and multilateral agencies to be part of this global community.

For more information please contact:
info@globalallianceforcare.org

www.globalallianceforcare.org

Follow us:

© Illustrations: Gilda Martini

Explore the Global Digital Community on Care

A repository of information related to care produced by Global Alliance for Care members.

globalallianceforcare.org/en/community

The Global Alliance for Care invites national and subnational governments, the private sector, academia, civil society organizations, international organizations, caregivers' organizations, union associations, and multilateral agencies to be part of this global community.

For more information please contact:
info@globalallianceforcare.org

www.globalallianceforcare.org

Follow us:

